

I support LNP. This would make it easier to satisfy customers who want to change carriers, but without the hassels of changing business cards etc, etc. This issue has been delayed twice now, and needs no further delays! Landline companies are required, why not wireless?